I am a sole practitioner, residing and practicing DWI defense law in Southampton, Suffolk County, New York. I limit my practice solely to representing the DWI accused in all of Suffolk County.

According to the "Stop DWI Program," which exists under the auspices of Suffolk County Executive Steve Levy, between 2005 and 2009, there were approximately 5,400 DWI arrests in Suffolk County each year, averaging approximately 104 DWI arrests each week. Based on the fees which I charge the DWI accused, there are potentially $35,000 of legal fees for an individual who wants to fight his/her misdemeanor DWI charge, $40,000 for a felony charge, through a jury trial.

I seek to be retained on average by 2 of the approximately 104 DWI accused arrestees each week, who are not eligible to be represented by Legal Aid or 18(b) attorneys. Should 6 of the 96 DWI accused have pretrial hearings, this would result in a further increase in legal fees by about $30,000 annually. If only 2 of my DWI clients have jury trials annually, that would cost the accused clients an additional $25,000 for each DWI accused.

Should your Suffolk County law firm associate me with your firm in an "of counsel" position, as an "independent contractor," I would expect to receive 35% of all legal fees (up to $196,000), and you could avoid paying any payroll taxes on my behalf; your firm should receive up to $364,000 in legal fees annually.

My current CV and references are available upon request; I have been a DWI trial attorney for most of the past 28 years. I know how to try DWI jury trials, and I don't need anyone holding my hand. Furthermore, I can easily handle the 96 DWI accused individuals annually, without your needing to hire anyone to assist me. I would also keep my Southampton Office open at my expense and pay my own professional liability insurance. All of my other miscellaneous expenses would be paid out of my 35% share.
